DETAILED ACTION

Response to Amendment

1. Applicant's amendments to claims 1 – 25 are acknowledged. Consequently, claims 1, 14, 15, 22, and 23 have been amended. Claims 1 – 25 are currently pending.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

3. Claims 1 – 5, 13 - 14, 23, 25 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Naohito Nakamura (U.S. 6,633,873).

◆ As per claim 1, 14, Nakamura discloses:

Nakamura discloses a method of facilitating a distributed search for a procurement request comprising:

- “Receiving the procurement request from a user” See Fig. 2, S1, col. 5, lines 7 – 34. The Examiner notes that “procurement” means “quantity” of sources (as specified in the disclosure on page 6, lines 15 – 19). Therefore, the “procurement request” corresponds to a request that contain a number or “quantity” of sources that need to retrieve from the database. Nakamura teaches that the request may contain a number of conditions such as request 20 responses from the database. Therefore, this request corresponds to the “procurement request” in the instant application.

Art Unit: 2161

- “ Requesting a remote supplier to conduct a remote search to satisfy the procurement request” Fig. 2, S5, col. 5, lines 41 – 45. The remote supplier corresponds to the remote database.
- “ Initiating a local search of a local information source” See Fig. 2, S2, col. 5, lines 9 – 12.
- “ Receiving results of the remote search” See Fig. 2, S4, Fig. 7, STP 7.
- “Filtering results of the remote search by applying organizational procurement controls to the results of the remote search, whereby the organizational procurement controls can be applied to the results of the remote search which is performed by the remote supplier” See col. 9, lines 31 – 51. Nakamura teaches that a limited number of sources is assigned to a certain remote database. Therefore, the remote database must use this “organizational procurement controls” to the results in order to filter out exactly this number.
- “ Merging said remote search results with results of the local search; and presenting said merged search results to the user” See Fig. 2, S4, col. 5, lines 28 – 30, 46 – 57, Fig. 1, element 9.

◆ As per claim 2, Nakamura discloses:

- “ Filtering said remote search results with a set of local rules” See col. 2, lines 4 – 7, col. 4, lines 44 – 45. The “local rule” corresponds to the “predetermined condition” of the search query. See Fig. 3, col. 5, lines 30 – 57. In this case, the “local rule” corresponds to the number of search results that must be returned to the user.

◆ As per claim 3, Nakamura discloses:

Art Unit: 2161

- “Filtering comprises editing said remote search results according to a set of rules regarding information ... user” See col. 5, lines 58 – 61.

◆ As per claim 4, Nakamura discloses:

- “Selecting said remote information source from multiple information sources” See Fig. 6, col. 9, lines 5 – 11.

◆ As per claim 5, Nakamura discloses:

- “Said remote search is conducted without the user being connected to the remote information source” See Fig. 1 – 4. The remote database is searched by the system and the results are returned to the user automatically. Therefore, the user is not connected to the remote source.

◆ As per claim 13, 25, Nakamura discloses:

- “Remote search and local search are performed at least partially in parallel” See col. 8, lines 8 – 16.

◆ As per claim 23, Nakamura discloses:

Claim 23 is rejected based on the rejection of claims 1 – 2.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Art Unit: 2161

5. Claims 6 – 12, 15, 24 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Naohito Nakamura (U.S. 6,633,873) in view of Larry Harris (U.S. 2002/0059204).

♦ As per claim 6, the combination of Nakamura and Harris discloses:

Nakamura fails to disclose “ The remote information source employs a user interface different from a user interface employed by the local information source”. According to Fig. 1 of the disclosure, the remote source interface is different with the local interface by its format in the database.

However, Harris, on the other hand, discloses a distributed search system that comprises a plurality of data sources (See Fig. 2, Harris). The data source can be in different formats (page 2, paragraph 0029). Therefore, Harris, discloses a remote source that have a different interface with the local interface.

It would have been obvious to one with ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to apply the teaching of Harris into the system of Nakamura because the combination would allow the user obtains more result from different data sources.

♦ As per claim 7, the combination of Nakamura and Harris discloses:

- “ Said presenting comprises displaying said merged search results with the user interface employed by the local information source” See page 5, paragraph 0050, Harris.

♦ As per claim 8 - 11, 16, 18 – 20, 24, the combination of Nakamura and Harris discloses:

- “ Said requesting comprises identifying to the remote information source a context in which to execute the remote search” See page 5, paragraph 0052 – 0053, Harris.
- “ Said context comprises an identity of the user” and “ comprises an identity of an organization operating the local resource” See paragraph 0052 – 0053, 0062, Harris.

Art Unit: 2161

- “ Said context comprises a language” See paragraph 0047, Harris.
- ◆ As per claim 12, the combination of Nakamura and Harris discloses:
 - “ The remote information source comprises an electronic marketplace” See paragraph 0057, Harris.
- ◆ As per claim 15, 22, the combination of Nakamura and Harris discloses:

“ Receiving a search request from a user” See Fig. 2, S1, col. 5, lines 7 – 9.

 - “ Requesting a remote information source to conduct a remote search” Fig. 2, S5, col. 5, lines 41 – 45.
 - “ Initiating a local search of a local information source” See Fig. 2, S2, col. 5, lines 9 – 12.
 - “ Receiving results of the remote search” See Fig. 2, S4, Fig. 7, STP 7.
 - “ Merging said remote search results with results of the local search; and presenting said merged search results to the user” See Fig. 2, S4, col. 5, lines 28 – 30, 46 – 57, Fig. 1, element 9.
 - “ Filtering said remote search results with a set of local rules” See col. 2, lines 4 – 7, col. 4, lines 44 – 45. The “local rule” corresponds to the “predetermined condition” of the search query. See Fig. 3, col. 5, lines 30 – 57. In this case, the “local rule” corresponds to the number of search results that must be returned to the user.
 - “ Said requesting comprises identifying to the remote information source a context in which to execute the remote search” See page 5, paragraph 0052 – 0053, Harris.
 - “ Said context comprises an identity of the user” and “ comprises an identity of an organization operating the local resource” See paragraph 0052 – 0053, 0062, Harris.

- “ Said context comprises a language” See paragraph 0047, Harris.
- ◆ As per claim 17, the combination of Nakamura and Harris discloses:
 - “ Selecting said remote information source from multiple information sources” See Fig. 6, col. 9, lines 5 – 11, Nakamura.
- ◆ As per claim 21, the combination of Nakamura and Harris discloses:
 - “ Remote search and local search are performed at least partially in parallel” See col. 8, lines 8 – 16, Nakamura.

Response to Arguments

6. Applicant's arguments filed 10/12/04 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

Applicant argues that Nakamura fails to suggest filtering search results from a remote supplier by applying organization procurement controls to search results generated by a remote supplier. The Examiner respectfully disagrees.

Referring to col. 9, lines 31 – 51, Nakamura teaches that a limited number of sources are assigned to a certain remote database. Therefore, the remote database must use this “organizational procurement controls” to the results in order to filter out exactly this number.

Conclusion

7. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.

Art Unit: 2161
